

Jaunt Jottings for November 24 2022.

The very last Jolly Jaunt for 2022 is on Thursday 24th November and we have saved a special visit for last. However, whilst a spectacular garden, this one is very difficult to access. It is on a steep slope with many steps and paths that wind through a number of terraces.

If that is not a challenge in itself, the real challenge is that access to the property where the garden begins, is up a steep driveway. There is no parking at the top so Carol and Paul will have to shuttle people up to where the garden path begins. The long steep driveway can't be walked (especially while Carol and Paul are shuttling). Yet another impediment is that the property is in a cul-de-sac where there is parking for only one or 2 cars in the street so our plan is to carpool from the morning tea meeting place to our destination garden.

By now you are probably wondering why on earth we have arranged this visit with such limited access. Well, our garden hosts, Gary and Martin are an amazing couple who have built a truly incredible garden. They are passionate plant collectors and their garden reflects this.

One respectful reminder - please do not ask for any cuttings.

The plan for the day is:

10:00am. Meet at Sandy Beach Reserve opposite the shop for Morning Tea.

10:30am. Carpool in as few cars as possible to Martin's & Gary's cul-de-sac at 19 Azure Avenue Emerald Beach. Carol and Paul will shuttle you to a drop off terrace where the garden path begins. At end of visit, shuttle in reverse, carpool in reverse.

12:00 Lunch at Moonee Tavern. Where there there will be many tales of ..... but did you see that?
